Welcome to those who aspire to a wellbeing

RSS feed is an important feature

The importance about RSS

On both sites (YP & SY), RSS has been broken for quite a while. Since Google changed their policy. The result was that they did not let users us their proxy. Nowadays, Proxys on Google are first used internally.

Publish Once. Reach More People.

When you publish news through YogaPartout.com or Satoshi.Yoga, your content does much more than appear on a single webpage. It is automatically distributed across the four communication channels that matter most, helping your message reach the right audience while saving you valuable time.

Our ecosystem also gives you access to more than 30 specialized RSS feeds, allowing you to share your news with readers already interested in your field—whether it is yoga, wellness, meditation, health, artificial intelligence, blockchain, cybersecurity, the social economy, or many other topics.

Features

- Automatic distribution across multiple communication channels.
- Access to more than 30 specialized RSS feeds.
- Publish once and distribute your content through multiple destinations.
- Designed for nonprofits, businesses, educators, speakers, authors, associations, and content creators.
- Easy-to-use publishing tools that maximize the reach of every announcement.

Advantages

- Save time by publishing your content only once.
- Reach highly targeted audiences already interested in your expertise.
- Improve your online visibility and search engine optimization (SEO).
- Increase the lifespan and discoverability of your articles, events, workshops, podcasts, and press releases.
- Eliminate the need to manually repost the same information across multiple platforms.

Benefits

- Greater visibility.
- Increased credibility.
- More visitors to your website.
- Stronger engagement with your community.
- More opportunities to grow your network, your projects, and your organization.

One Publication. Multiple Destinations.

❝

Communication is only effective when the right message reaches the right audience at the right time

Publish once—we'll take care of the distribution. Simply choose the RSS feeds that best match your audience and let our ecosystem amplify your message across the communities that matter most.

Browse the 30+ RSS feeds below and select the ones that will help your news reach the readers, partners, customers, members, donors, or volunteers you want to engage.

❝

> A live text file on a website that updates every time the site publishes something new is what makes RSS Feed important. It contains basic facts like titles, summaries, dates, and links to the full stories.